This opens an interesting question as to the authority of the commission, which under section 3 of the law creating the body is "vested with sole direction, management and control of and jurisdiction over all boxing and sparring matches held within the State".

Pearl Smith, manager for Miske, called on Frank S O'Neil, former chairman of the boxing Commission, and received from him the opinion that Miske could not be compelled to box Moha, and that if he was suspended by the commission the action would not be sustained by the State's law officers. Smith, therefore, decided not to permit his man to box with Moha on Tuesday night, and will take the matter into the courts of the suspended.
